

paige's box

Paige, your making abilities and continual creativity blows me away! Your latest box creation is a fabulous example of the many fantastic things you design and make.

What's super special about this creation is that you have added to it day after day-you even brought in extra supplies from home, to make it just right!

I love how proud you are of your work. After each stage, you show me what you've changed: everything is well thought through, and you can explain so clearly what your plan/vision is.

Within each layer, there are more surprises! I just loved hearing your excitement at the wee treasures each box held. And this morning (Day 3 of Box Additions) you told me you've "tidied up": tiny objects have been carefully stored in teeny tiny containers! What careful precision and organising, to tidy your box so well!

What learning is happening here, Paige?

You are developing your creativity, your perseverance, your organisation skills and your fine motor skills. I really can't wait to see what you make next!
